Plan Com. Report Of Progress

The following was presented to the Pine Cone yesterday by the Planning Commission for publication and is their officially approved statement.

There has been a great deal of misunderstanding recently in the village concerning the actions of the Planning Commission regarding the Master Plan. It is time to clear up some of these confusions.

In the first place it should be known and clearly understood that the Planning Commission is dedicated to keeping Carmel as it is just as long as possible. It is dedicated to preserving the natural beauty and uniqueness of this place and to hold back in every reasonable way the encroaching tide of undesirable developments.

In the second place the Planning Commission realizes that changes must and will occur, and it maintains that as they do occur they should be in accord with an accepted plan and not merely haphazard. Such a plan should be long-range, and with a vision twenty to fifty years ahead. Nothing is further from the thought of the planners than to suggest changing Carmel before the need arises.

We face a future of many problems however, which will become unsolvable if not taken into consideration now. It was with this long-range view in mind that Mr. Lawrence Livingston was engaged to prepare a Master Plan and to write a zoning ordinance. He is under contract by the Council to do this. He has given consideration to the advice of the Citizen's Committee. The work of the Planning Commission in assisting to draft the zoning ordinance has been necessary in order that he might fulfill his contract. By no means does it indicate that a zoning ordinance is being decided upon without regard for the widespread protest against the Plan.

The work is still in progress. What is done with the Master Plan and the proposed zoning ordinance after they are completed and submitted by Mr. Livingston is entirely up to the Council and the public. The Planning Commission has done its duty as it sees it, feeling that its suggestions are reasonable and wise, and worthy of serious consideration by the people of Carmel.

The above does not explain or justify the Planning Commission's procedure in concocting the new zoning ordinance which will implement the plan without first making some evaluation of the public hearings and taking into consideration the wishes of the people as expressed at the hearings.

Many people stated that they were opposed to the transition zone, yet the commission, without a word of discussion, or even acknowledgement that the hearings had revealed strong opposition, told Planner Lawrence Livingston, Jr., it was their wish that the new zoning ordinance provide for a transition zone.

This transition zone is the key to the plan. It determined most of the decisions regarding set back requirements; off street parking; land coverage and the other pro-

Gentle Ralph Skene As Kenya Commissioner Bought African Slaves

BY BOB KALLER

From a benevolent despotism over some half million wild Africans to peaceful retirement in Carmel, Ralph Skene has taken the unexpected in his stride with the characteristic calm of the British colonial commissioner.

Born in romantic Aleppo of a British father and a Dublin mother during the eighteen seventies, Ralph Skene arrived on the scene during the high tide of the British Empire. His father was chief British consul for the Arabia of that time, and till he was ten, young Skene wandered the highways and byways of the Middle East like a young pasha.

Abruptly, playtime was over, and Ralph found himself on his way to school in London at St. Paul's. The University of Geneva followed and then it was time to go to work.

Skene thought he might like banking and so, in the fashion of that day, became an apprentice in a top-flight Geneva bank. Apprenticeship in that day consisted of working for some three years with no pay at all, but much experience. The time was not without reward for when Ralph decided in the style of many another young Englishman of the day, that he might like to try his hand at the Colonies he found all doors readily open to him owing to his family connections and to his father's consular career. Shortly after applying, he was on his way to Kenya, then part of the British protectorate of East Africa.

As a neophyte Skene was first stationed in Mombasa to learn something of the local procedures. After a year or two, his superior called him in one day and informed the young man that he was now an Assistant District Commissioner for the Fort Hall district in the Mau Mau country and was expect-

Plan Board Hears Council Say No To C-2 Freeze

"Let the tourist come to Carmel on our own terms," said Councilman Carl Patnude yesterday afternoon opposing a mutually exclusive light industry-commercial services (C-2) zone approved by the Planning Commission and included in Carmel's new zoning ordinance being prepared by City Planner Larry Livingston, Jr.

Patnude declared his stand towards the end of a two hour City

Gay Parade To Open Annual Carnival Sat.

A parade of tricycles, bicycles, wagons and cars, gaily decorated by grade and High School students, will assemble at Devendorf Plaza at 10:00 o'clock on Saturday morning. Heralded by the Carmel High School band the parade will march up and down Ocean Avenue, then disperse with marchers going up the hill to the Girls League-High School PTA Scholarship Carnival which opens at 11:00 o'clock.

The playfield and gymnasium at the High School will be gay with many-colored pennanted booths for games of skill. The auction booth, where everything from symphony records to appealing kittens, may be put up for bidding by student auctioneers will center the field. Each class and club at the High School is preparing a concession, to raise funds to provide scholarships for two graduating seniors. Cars will be washed by Junior Statesmen in the parking lot.

The High School PTA will endeavor to match funds raised by students by serving luncheon in the cafeteria, selling Christmas gifts and decorations, plants flowers, jewelry and baked goods.

A variety show will be presented by students in the cafeteria at 1:30 o'clock and again at 3:00 when The Boogie Woogie Boys, Brian Casiday, Alf Anderson, Dale Dawson, George Blanks, John Stiles and Dave Tobiasen will open with hot jazz. Musical skits, written by Ric Masten and Don Adams, Letter From Sam and Do It Yourself, follow on the program interspersed with classical music pantomimes and dancing. Another skit Morning Becomes Electric is also included in the hour long show.

General chairman for the Carnival is Carey Edson. Class chairmen are Carla Wageman, freshmen; Wendy Draper, sophomores; Lacy Williams, juniors; Carey Edson, seniors. Katy Fry and Tessie Requiore are doing all typing. Naida Smith is organizing the parade. Tweed Champe handles publicity. Suzann Pilot is in charge of concessions; Pat Elston and Nancy Sheldon, finance; Stephanie Craviotto, entertainment; Diane Paddleford, King and Queen contest; Hazel Tice, art.

SPECIAL COUNCIL MEETING

A special meeting of the City Council is to be held on Tuesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock to adopt a resolution supporting re-districting and to receive Mayor Horace Lyons report on the Peninsula Mayors' Committee meeting on the garbage disposal situation.

Council-Planning Commission policy study session instigated by the Schultz land use application denied by the Planning Commission on August 22, appealed to the Council and approved on October 3. The Planning Commission felt that the Schultz lower story seven shop, upper story 14 apartment building was an incompatible land use in the C-2 zone. The Council did not.

Both Patnude and Mayor Lyon, in discussion, disclosed that they favored "combination" type structures in the C-2 zone such as the Schultz building, but opposed exclusive residential or multiple dwelling uses in the area.

"The combination C-2 use is economically feasible and desirable," stated Lyon, contending, with Patnude, that multiple dwelling-business combination buildings in the C-2 district upgrade property, the proposed strictly light industry-commercial services use of C-2 downgrades the area.

"Services not compatible to residence and business zones but necessary to residents and businessmen such as laundromats, auto repair, plumbing, paint and electric shops should be in C-2," continued Lyon. "Lumberyards, woodyards, laundries are not necessities for residents," he said in support of his "thinking aloud" that such businesses are now uneconomic to maintain in Carmel due to high property values and the amount of land necessary for the operation of such businesses.

"I visualize Junipero as one of the loveliest streets in town," said Mayor Lyon, "with its broad width, plantings, all lighting and signs controlled." It was his opinion that such a street would be compatible for combination shop-apartment buildings.

Both Patnude and Lyon based their thinking that a C-2 zone (restricted entirely to light industry) was not necessary for Carmel on the fact that during the past ten years' tremendous expansion in other zones, the C-2 area has remained static with no demands for heavy or light industry to serve the increased population, rather such existing businesses have tended to move "over the hill." "Won't economic factors take care of development?" inquired Lyon.

Patnude felt that the proposed restricted C-2 zone would be created for tourists as citizens have not shown need for a restricted C-2 zone as Carmel increased in size. It was then he made his statement that tourists should come here "on our terms."

Lyon and Patnude indicated that the council in granting the Planning Commission strong powers under the interim ordinance, did not visualize change of present use in the area. The Schultz apartment-shop building was compatible.

CARMEL AT GILROY FRIDAY NIGHT

Anxious to redeem themselves for letting an upset victory over Hollister slip through their fingers last Saturday, Carmel High's varsity football squad journeys to Gilroy Friday night for a league tussle with their big Mustangs. Although the Padres will be outweighed by the Mustangs, Friday night's tilt looms as an even-up affair with the Carmel eleven having an edge in performance against common opponents and the Mustangs having a home field advantage. While Carmel upset Gonzales, 12 to 0, Gilroy was up-ended by the Spartans 13 to 7. The Mustangs have a pair of all-league ends, Julian Aguilar and Bernard Halbrook, who are talented pass receivers and rugged defensive wingmen. Aguilar has been an All-CCAL performer for three years, making the mythical eleven as a guard in his freshman year. In quarterback Elbert Enos, Gilroy boasts one of the slickest quarterbacks in the league. This lad is nearly as adept as Ron Leonti was last season. The Mustangs operate from the split-T and feature the ride series which is based on superb faking between the quarterback and fullback.

The Padres have been working hard all week to correct a severe attack of butter-fingers which plagued them against Hollister. When the red and grey eleven puts together a solid running game with their aerial pyrotechnics they are capable of giving the scoreboard a workout. Captain Charley Dawson will lead an offensive unit consisting of Don Smith and Pat Harney, ends; Paul Prince and Brian Leidig, tackles; Bob Leidig and Joe Mason, guards; Parker Pollock, center; Jack Faia and Tim O'Shea, halfbacks; and Andy Gray, fullback. The following defensive specialists will take over when Gilroy has the ball: Fred Nelson and Phil Durbrow, tackles; Mike Meheen, guard; Bob Durbrow, end; John Stiles, linebacker; and Clyde Klaumann, halfback. Dawson, Mason, Faia, and O'Shea will go both ways.

Friday night's preliminary game will match Gilroy's twice-beaten Ponies with Carmel's league-leading Padrecitos. Coach Rainer's junior-varsity clobbered Live Oak, 32 to 0, tripped Gonzales, 45 to 13, and edged Hollister, 19 to 18. A win over Gilroy will put the Padrecitos in line for top spot in the final league standings as Gonzales is considered the strongest JV team and Rainer's Ramblers have already dumped the Little Spartans. The Little Padres will open action with Bill Hicks and Robin Way, ends; Jim Bannerman and Hal Gregerson, tackles; Mike Raggett and John Morse, guards; Alan Eaker, center; Roger Fremier, quarterback; Bert Macahillig and Pete Phillips, halfbacks; and Bob Goldwater, fullback.

CARMEL PADRES EDGED BY HOLLISTER, 7 TO 0

A valiant defensive effort by Captain Joe Mason and his Padre teammates threatened to provide a startling upset over the potent Hollister Haybalers last Saturday afternoon, but an intercepted pass in the final three minutes gave the visitors the winning touchdown. The heavily favored Hollister eleven found the yardage hard to come by as the stubborn Padres grudgingly allowed the Haybalers 58 yards from scrimmage plays. While Carmel's superb defense was throttling the Hollister attack, the Padres moved on the ground and through the air for 318 yards but all the touchdown threats were stymied by fumbles or near-misses.

Where ball-carriers, pass-receivers, and passers usually receive the accolades on the gridiron, it was the grubby guards, tackles, linebackers, ends, and defensive secondary men who starred in Saturday's hard-fought B league crucial. From end to end, the Carmel line turned in faultless jobs to choke off the heralded Hollister running attack. As the

Do it yourself Water System

Here's a cheap way to fetch your water supply. Cheap, that is, in a money sense, but expensive in time and labor. And two other points: You couldn't supply all your family's needs with a water system of this kind, and the water you would take home might not be safe.

Modern water systems, such as the one which serves the Monterey Peninsula, brings to people, day in and day out, an abundant supply of good safe water cheaper than they can get it themselves.

Padre forward wall of Art Wilkerson, Bob Durbrow, Fred Nelson, Mike Meheen, and Captain Joe Mason turned back the running stuff, the red and grey secondary of Charley Dawson, John Stiles, Jack Faia, Clyde Klaumann, and Tim O'Shea put a blanket over the Haybaler passing attack and limited the visitors to a net gain of 8 yards through the air.

THE SPORT WHEEL

Henry Overin Sold to Vancouver—Lefty Hank Overin, Carmel's top professional baseball player, took a step up the baseball ladder last week when his contract was picked up by the Vancouver Mounties of the Pacific Coast League. This represents a jump from the Class C California State League to the Class AAA Coast League. Last year the Carmel lefty toiled for the Stockton Ports and turned in some impressive victories for the Roy Partee's club.

Kyrk Reid on Stanford Fresh Squad—Ex-Padre Kyrk Reid, a member of last year's championship grid squad at Carmel High, has donned the grid togs of the Stanford Freshmen and is currently running with the second unit of the Papooses. Kyrk, a 200-pound tackle, is one of the smaller lads on the squad but has good speed and is a gifted place-kicker.

Gentle Ralph Skene As Kenya Commissioner Bought African Slaves

ed to hie himself there forthwith. Forthwith — he did.

Almost immediately after his arrival the District Commissioner died, and Skene found himself the Acting District Commissioner. Unfortunately the natives did not quite go along with the ladder of promotion and informed Skene that the "Government was dead" and that he was just a tourist. Skene says that it took his detachment of the King's African Rifles and several burned thatch villages to convince the Mau Mau that there had been a rebirth of rule.

For the next 22 years, with the exception of periodic vacations to England and the Continent, Skene was to spend his time among the Kikuyus or Mau Mau as we know them today. One of the most interesting assignments he was given occurred shortly after he had taken over as Acting District Commissioner, to stamp out slavery in his section of Kenya. Slaves were legally redeemed by the British government, with a native court of assessors setting a fair value on them. Their price was then paid to their owners by the British Government. When the process was complete, all the slaves in Kenya were free.

A more difficult general problem was to beat off the Arab slave raiders who swooped down from the coast in droves and forcibly carried off men, women and children to servitude in Arabia and other sections of the Middle East, burning, pillaging and looting.

The native Kikuyus were intelligent, good fighters and made disciplined soldiers, and things were relatively peaceful during Skene's era.

In 1920 Ralph retired from the service after one too many bouts with malaria, and he and Mrs. Skene came to the United States. Mrs. Skene is an American by birth, the sister of Henry F. Dickinson of Carmel, and when the couple were married Ralph made a bargain with his bride that if she would come to Africa, he would retire to America when the time came. This promise he kept.

In August of 1923, having heard Carmel extolled for a long time by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Whitehead, the Skenes decided to come here.

LOCAL CHAPTER FORMED FOR RETIRED CIVIL EMPLOYEES

The newly formed Peninsula Chapter of the National Association of Retired Civil Employees held its second meeting at the Pacific Grove Recreation Center on October 10. Officers elected were L. Roy Hastings, 121 14th St., Pacific Grove, president; Everett Spencer, first vice president; Edward J. Schmidt, second vice president; Alexander B. McKnight, secretary, and William A. Heady, treasurer. All members of the national association are invited to join the local chapter which will hold meetings at the center, 585 Laurel, Pacific Grove, at 1:00 o'clock on the second Wednesday of each month.

LET'S GO TO MEXICO

No matter how he pronounced the names of lakes and mountains, his pictures of them were entrancing; and we looked up the pronunciation and by golly he was right. Naturally, what Ph.D. is wrong. The mountain, which as kids we knew ended in "petal" is spelled but not pronounced that way. Anyway Dr. Ernest Edwards, a string bean of a Virginian with a delicious trace of accent, and a quiet sense of humor, took us on his magic carpet, a color film, Land of The Scarlet Macaw, from one end of Mexico to another. The southern end of the journey ended at the dead end of the Mexican part of the Inter-American Highway at the North end of the Guatemalan jungle. As he put it, "The Mexicans built their highway in the mountains, the Guatemalans, along the seacoast."

A large and appreciative audience saw and heard this lecture last Thursday night at Sunset Auditorium, and if this is a sample of this season's Screen Tours the Audubon Society is to be congratulated.

—A. S.

Ocean Avenue had just been paved, and the Fords of the day wouldn't make the Monterey-Carmel hill since the gas feed would fail because of the steep tilt. There were fewer buildings, and fewer people, and life was quieter. Even with the changes, Ralph Skene still finds Carmel a satisfactory place in which to live.

The members of the Carmel Youth Center wish to take this opportunity to thank you for your support of our recent fund drive. It was support such as yours that enabled us to reach our goal of financial independence for another year.

We were able to do this without spending one penny for the usual 'overhead and expenses'. The youth of Carmel showed with hard work their appreciation of their own independently owned and run youth center. Through your donation of space, you as the editor, showed your appreciation and understanding.

The people of Carmel showed a warm and generous response to our drive, giving us an overwhelming vote of confidence. Thank you for your help.

New Play Opens At Circle Theatre Friday

Time Out for Ginger opens tomorrow night at The Golden Bough Circle Theatre. The story is based on the assumption that all humans being equal, a girl has every right to play on the high school football team—an idea acceptable as good clean fantasy. Ciji Ware plays the part of the tomboy Ginger who makes the team. Ciji is a freshman at Carmel high and her understudy Linda Paplow a student at Sunset School. Judy Paplow who plays the part of the elder sister is a freshman at Monterey Peninsula college, and Nancy Lofton the other sister is at Carmel High. Kit Jones who plays Tommy Green is at Carmel High and Pete Lonero as Eddie Davis is at Monterey High. Kit Jones and Judy Paplow have both been seen at the Golden Bough before. Judy in Tobias and The Angel and Kit in Treasure Hunt and Tobias and the Angel. Pete Lonero was brought up on a fishing boat, and in his leisure time that is probably where you would find him. Ciji, Linda, Nancy and Pete make their first appearance at the Golden Bough.

On the adult side, Allen Foulkes, Peg Miner and Gertrude Chappell are familiar names on local theatre programs. Clifford Anderson and Neil Norum will be seen for the first time at the Golden Bough.

The production staff consists of the following: stage manager, Lewis Perkin; assistant, Marian Young; music and sound effects, Grace Brueck; master carpenter, Church Chappell; costumes, Rhoda Johnson; hairstyling, Henry Hairstylist.

Time Out for Ginger, directed by Charles Thomas with Polly Bowhay as production assistant, will run for six week ends.

STEWART DAY BARBECUE

Saturday is Bill Stewart Day on the peninsula. The Democratic candidate for Representative to U. S. Congress will visit each community in a vintage Stevens car. From 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon till 7:00 in the evening Stewart will attend a family-style barbecue in the patio of Dr. and Mrs. Russell Williams' home at Carmel Highlands. Self-styled Unofficial Democratic Club of Carmel Highlands is planning the affair with Don Doner, Hal Price, Laidlaw and Abbie Lou Williams, Russell and Cynthia Williams motivating arrangements. Carnival events are planned for children and adults, hamburgers, salad and French bread are on the menu with liquid refreshments for young and old also provided.

STEVEN LITTLE VISITS HERE

Steven Little, designer of the new Navy airplane rocket launching apparatus, stopped in Carmel briefly on Tuesday night to see his father, Leslie G. Little, and brother, Bob Little. He was on his way from the China Lake NOTS Naval base to Gilroy where his invention will be manufactured.

Resembling a hot water heater the Aero 7D launcher invented by Steven Little is 16 inches in diameter, 98 inches long and carries 19 rockets. Four of the launchers are attached to the underside of each fighter and attack plane, occupying the space formerly taken up by only six single rockets. In air-to-air and air-to-ground combat 156 Mighty Mouse rockets can be fired at one time from Little's launcher.

Formerly a Navy fighter pilot, Steven Little, served two tours of duty in Korea and flew in the Philippines during World War II. He was sent to the College of the Pacific, University of Oklahoma, Notre Dame and Yale by the Navy. He is now a civilian engineer, head of Aircraft Launcher Section, attached to the Rocket Development Department of NOTS, Naval Ordnance Test Station at China Lake. He is 29 years old, married and the father of two children.

"Aero 7D launchers are the first launchers to fit everybody's airplane," according to Steven Little.

MRS. CREEDE AT RECEPTION

Mrs. Frank J. Creede, accompanied by Eleanor Kerr, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Creede Jr. and their two daughters Laurel and Donna from Fresno, attended the champagne reception for Beniamino Bufano in San Mateo last Sunday.

The occasion was the formal unveiling of a rare collection of 11 statutes by Bufano permanently installed at the new Hillsdale shopping center.

HOSPITAL VISIT

Mary Margaret McEntire was taken to the Peninsula Community Hospital in the Carmel Red Cross ambulance at 12:30 o'clock this morning suffering from a leg laceration and body contusions from a fall on the brick paving outside the Carmel Woman's Club. She is remaining in the hospital until tomorrow.

Masons Organize New Luncheon Club

A new luncheon club has been established in Carmel, and Carl Patnude, president of the organization, invites all regular Masons to apply for charter membership. The charter will be open to and including October 26, the next luncheon day. Luncheons will be held each Friday noon thereafter at Cypress West Dining Room, Seventh and Lincoln Streets, Carmel.

"High Twelve is a Luncheon Club for Men of Masonry—an hour of fellowship absolutely free from selfishness or private gain," Patnude points out.

"The High Twelve is a non-political, non-sectarian organization, composed of representative business and professional men who feel a keen interest in the welfare and progress of their community, their city, and the affairs of the world, and who strive to live the ideals taught in Masonry, in their relation to mankind."

High Twelve's object is to unite Masonry in the bonds of a social hour, to inspire and encourage the practice of those virtues which will aid in civic betterment in the upbuilding of the principles of good government; in the advancement of education; in the upbuilding of its members in honorable and successful living; to encourage and participate in such constructive activities as shall tend to the betterment of the community.

Activities: International; the Walcott Foundation; Graduate Fellowship Grants in International Affairs. State: the Ensign Mayo De Molay Loan Fund. Local: Serving the Youth of the Community.

High Twelve Club, Carmel-by-the-Sea will be affiliated with the California Association of High Twelve Clubs, and The High Twelve International, with headquarters at St. Louis, Mo.

The officers of this High Twelve Club are: Carl Patnude, president; Ralph W. Thompson, Sr., secretary; Norman C. Winslow, treas.; Dr. E. Leigh Mudge, chaplain, and Andrew Del Monte, sergeant at arms.

Anniversary Waltz Wins Local Audience Approval

BY ELIZABETH LAWRENCE

What promises to be a brilliant autumn-winter theatrical season was ushered in last Saturday night at Sunset Auditorium when Dudley Nix presented the long-run hit comedy, Anniversary Waltz, complete with original stars, Richard Eastham and Marjorie Lord, and stellar supporting cast, elaborate set, and full-scale metropolitan production.

By doing so Mr. Nix gave Carmelites one of their most hilarious and thoroughly enjoyable theatrical experiences in many years.

Mr. Nix plans to bring here other major attractions and stars. The enthusiastic support given his first production in the series, evidenced by Carmelites packing Sunset even to the very last gallery seat, should encourage him. Chalk Garden with Judith Anderson may be next on the Nix roster.

Anniversary Waltz is an exuberant whirlwind of break-neck comedy, punctuated with laughs, and played with pace and speed by a cast so letter perfect by now that their individual performances mesh with the smooth synchronization of finely attuned musicians or dancers.

To Richard Eastham was given the burden of speeding Anniversary Waltz on its meteoric way. The personable and talented actor, already known for his splendid singing voice, met the challenge brilliantly. Mr. Eastham made of the chaotic-tempered Bud Walters, a lawyer, a madcap, a lovable tyrant, a romanticist — and one of the funniest of stage portraits of a husband.

The "plot" of Anniversary Waltz is not too important, because here is a play that gains its stature and its hilarity from what is done with it. Nevertheless the "plot" concerns the revenge taken by a long-suffering husband on his noisome in-laws in a moment of alcoholic bravado during the celebration of his 15th wedding anniversary with their overly-cherished daughter. With hilarious results the temporarily uninhibited husband reveals certain hitherto secret details of his "courtship" of his wife which disconcert his nettlesome in-laws, send his teen-age daughter on a Mr. Anthony-type television show to obtain guidance for her errant parents, nearly break up his law partnership, and end his marriage.

Marjorie Lord in the role of the wife was attractive and competent, playing splendidly as less turbulent foil to Eastham's irate husband.

Ruth Perrott as the mother-in-law was a delight. Herbert Heyes, as her hearty mate, was equally splendid. Kenneth Patterson, as the harassed law partner of the unpredictable Eastham, blended humor and chagrin in exactly the right proportions. Sandra Stone, already well cast by nature for her role of a glamorous platinum blonde, brought her girl to life with skillful characterization.

Mary Jane Saunders and Joey Santana, as the progressive-school-trained children of Eastham and Miss Lord gave full measure of professional adult performances.

May Will Hill was wonderful as the family maid, finding scope for her ample comedy talent in one of Anniversary Waltz's key roles.

Rod Kurry and Roy Franklyn, as television delivery men, brought just the right degree of outraged bewilderment to characters at first suspicious of, then astounded by Eastham's proclivity to kick in the screens of 21-inch television sets. Robert Lawler was a handy man also drawn into the household to repair a door kicked down by Eastham in a burst of romantic ardor for his bride of 15 years.

There were no holdouts in laughter, approval or enthusiasm at Sunset Auditorium last Saturday night (or on Monday, when the performance was repeated for a final time). Let us hope that Dudley Nix will find it possible to give us more evenings of top notch professional theater in Carmel. Anniversary Waltz was, indeed, an auspicious beginning.

READINGS FOR NEXT PLAY

Readings for the next play at the Golden Bough Circle Theatre in Carmel will be held on Monday and Tuesday evenings, October 22 and 23 in the theatre at Casanova between Eighth and Ninth Streets.

The play, Strange Bedfellows, a comedy in three acts by Florence Ryerson and Colin Clements, will be directed by Barbara Horder. The setting is San Francisco and the play is chuck full of fun. It calls for six men, one teen-age boy, one girl in late teens, 11 women and one Chinese (male.) Backstage help is also invited, and all parts are open.

William Bogen

William Conrad Bogen died on Friday morning at his home in the Monterey Peninsula Country Club after a long period of ill health.

Mr. Bogen was born in Oakland on October 25, 1878. He came to live in Carmel in 1928. Two years later he moved to Bronco Road and Stevenson Drive in the County Club. Before moving here Mr. Bogen was an orchardist and made his home in San Jose.

He was one of the original members of The Group, an informal discussion club of local men outstanding in different fields. He was a former board member of the Monterey History and Art Association, and a member of the Monterey Peninsula Country Club and Carmel Lodge 680 A.F. and A.M.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Delia Beach Bogen and a daughter, Mrs. Theo Farrington of San Jose.

Funeral services were held on Monday morning in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea conducted by the Reverend John Powell of St. Mary's-by-the-Sea Episcopal church assisted by the Carmel Masonic Lodge.

Burial services were held on Monday afternoon in Oak Hill Memorial Park, San Jose, Reverend Powell officiating.

Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thorburn

Two more books have taken wing from the examination shelves. One is The Rape of the Mind by Meerloo, and the other is a novel, Lucy Crown, by Shaw. If you signed for either of these books, be a little patient. They may come back. We always blame the tourists for these disappearances, but the season is on the wane. Actually, we are very fortunate in affairs of this kind. Books are generally taken by mistake, and come back again bearing their little waiting lists with them.

Next week we have five new novels for you. No, we have four novels, and one book of short stories. The short stories are by H. E. Bates and are entitled Daffodil Sky. These stories are very well done, and one bears the title of the book. A mystery by Robert P. Hansen is laid in Southern California, where anything can happen, and in Murder Is Where You Find It, everything does happen. Paul Hyde Bonner has a new one entitled With Both Eyes Open. The title is somewhat ironic, in that it depicts a man's belief when he marries a woman whose two previous husbands had died in somewhat suspicious circumstances. Jon Godden has written a novel about India, of which it is said that it is "a spiritual fable styled in the rich, ringing simplicity that accompanies wisdom beyond knowledge". The title is The Seven Islands. The new book by Angus Wilson is called Anglo-Saxon Attitudes. There seems to be a trend in these days to give to fiction titles which read like no-fiction, and to assign to more serious works very light, interest-catching titles. It's a little disconcerting to people who choose reading materials by their titles. This particular title was taken from Through the Looking Glass. Anglo-Saxon Attitudes is said to be very clever, and well written. So much for the fiction.

Old Bullion Benton, by William Nesbit Chambers, is the life story of Thomas Hart Benton, who earned his nickname by his defense of hard money currency. He was the first United States senator from Missouri, and one of her most colorful characters. That acute and wise observer, Aldous Huxley, has written a volume of essays on many different subjects, and has called his book Tomorrow and Tomorrow. Another book of essays, these on cooking and good eating, with recipes tossed in at intervals, is The Unprejudiced Palate by Angelo Pellegrini.

Major Keyhoe has another book on flying saucers, this one entitled The Flying Saucer Conspiracy. When he wrote his first book Flying Saucers, From Outer Space, he believed that official silence on this vital question was about to be lifted and the people told the facts of life regarding these alleged visitors from outer space. But official silence has deepened. The Flying Saucer Conspiracy is Major Keyhoe's protest against the policy of silence.

The Allen family set out to find the perfect place to live. Their journeys, their stoppings, and their hilarious experiences along the way, make a book for everyone to enjoy. The title is The Grass is Never Greener. The author's full name is Robert Thomas Allen.

Other books to go out next week are The Truth About Your Child's Reading by Sam Duker, Arctic Wilderness by Robert Marshall, and The Ultimate Viking by Eric Linklater. Be coming in!

She was 91 years old, born on February 10, 1865, in Norway. After coming to this country Mrs. Meany became a United States citizen. Her husband was the late Joseph C. Meany. Mrs. Meany was a member of All Saints' Episcopal Church.

Surviving her, besides her daughter, is a son, Philip J. Meany of Los Angeles.

Private funeral services were held on Monday in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea Crematorium. Inurnment was in Rose Hill Memorial Park in Whittier, California. Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

and then I got an electric heater!"

Why put up with ice-box rooms another day—when a modern, automatic electric heater can chase the chill away for good! You're the boss with electric heating: you select the exact warmth you want, never waste heat. It's clean, quick, draft-free, too—easy and comparatively inexpensive to install. If you have rooms that leave you cold (or even close to freezing!), make the most of P. G. and E.'s low rates. Ask any experienced, qualified electrical contractor to survey your home. Without obligation, he'll tell you the moderate cost of installing a well-engineered electric heating plan.

HUNTING AND FISHING SURVEY

The arguments in favor of preserving wilderness are sometimes considered impractical by hard-headed business men. There has been much talk about "locking up" our natural resources in this way. Wilderness conservationists reply that unlocking these areas leads to commercial development of various types that eventually destroys their original character. Once gone, they can never be restored. They are in the class of non-renewable natural resources.

There is, however, one very practical argument in favor of preserving wilderness. Just how practical it is has never been fully realized until the recent completion of a survey of the amount of money spent by hunters and fishermen in using our wilderness regions. It is very obvious that these sports cannot be indulged in anywhere except in the great open spaces.

This survey was made under the direction of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service at the recommendation of the International Association of Game, Fish and Conservation Commissioners. It was a professional job, carried out by a firm of experts, Crossley S-D Surveys of New York. About 20,000 homes were contacted in a representative cross section of the nation and 6,220 anglers and 3,108 hunters interviewed.

The complete report is available in Fish and Wildlife Service Circular No. 44, a 52-page publication. In this column I can only give the main financial statistics that will interest every business man in the country. They are almost startling in their disclosures. They show that "25 million American anglers and hunters spent nearly 3 billion dollars for 500 million days of sport — and drove their automobiles more than 10 billion miles and spent an average of $114.42 apiece in the pursuit of these recreations in 1955".

Nearly all of this huge sum was spent for equipment and for food, lodging and transportation on hunting and fishing trips. It does not, however, include expenditures of those visitors to the national parks and national forests who go for the purpose merely of enjoying the scenery, perhaps camping or perhaps staying at lodges or motels. This would certainly swell the total to astronomical proportions. By way of comparison, the annual production of value, not all in cash, from the national forests is estimated at about 350 million.

Wilderness conservationists believe that a survey of our scenic resources, looking to our recreational needs 50 years from now, is badly needed. Here we have an excellent economic argument for it, and one that can hardly be ignored by the business world. There are plenty of other arguments, mainly social or personal in nature, too often ignored by those who are in a position to help.

There is no question but that the main incentive in both hunting and fishing is getting away from the works of man and into contact with primitive nature. Killing animals for food or capturing fish by outwitting them with artificial lures is certainly a secondary, and in most cases a very minor, incentive. If the 25 million anglers and hunters turned up by this survey would get solidly behind the small band of wilderness conservationists who are calling for a full scale Scenic Resources Review, this long-desired and very important project might soon be realized.

Elsie Martin

Mrs. Elsie Grant Martin died on Sunday morning in a local hospital after a long illness. She and her husband, Raymond A. Martin came from Saratoga to live in Pebble Beach last June.

She was born in San Francisco on October 14, 1898.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Martin is survived by a stepson Richard F. Martin of Seattle, Washington, and a stepdaughter Captain Mary L. Martin stationed with the United States Army in Honolulu.

Private funeral services were held on Monday in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea Crematorium. Inurnment was in Madrona Cemetery, Saratoga. Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

LEGION AUXILIARY REPORT

New officers of Carmel American Legion Auxiliary, 512, present at the October 9 meeting. Mrs. Arthur Johnson, president; Eula Douglas, Patricia Hall, Mrs. Norman Winslow, Mrs. Charles Askew and Mrs. E. H. Ewig.

At the meeting $25 was donated to Carmel Youth Center; $10 given to the Salvation Army; and $5.00 toward the Legion Auxiliary Scholarship fund, also, 3,500 poppies ordered. This gives the non-compensated veterans a chance to earn a little Christmas money making the poppies.

The Palo Alto Veterans Hospital received $50 for the Gift Shop for Christmas Gifts. Another $50 will be spent locally for gifts, average price about $3.00. These gifts also will be sent to Palo Alto Veterans Hospital.

Harmons To Washington

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Harmon (Ginger Klein) have packed all their household possessions and shipped them to Washington, D.C. where they will live in the future. Bob has been practicing law in San Francisco and will be associated with the law firm of Covington and Budding in the national capital. The Harmons with sons, Grant, two and a half, and Mark a year old, came to Carmel after closing their Menlo Park home, to visit Ginger's mother, Mrs. Henriette Neal Millard. Bob left last weekend for Washington and hopes to have a house ready for his family when they arrive in the East. Ginger and the boys will be here until October 25 then go to Bakersfield to visit Bob's parents before leaving California on November 4.

"We'll be back next summer," says Ginger, "and you know Californians, we'll most likely come back here to live before too long."

Fifth Child For The Cates

Mr. and Mrs. John Cates are parents of three girls and two boys since Michael Louis arrived on October 7 at the Peninsula Community Hospital. Welcoming him at home are Connie, 11, Steve, ten, Susan, six, and Candy, three years old. Michael's father is county building inspector with offices in Salinas. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John Miller of Carmel and Mrs. Vida Cates of Athens, Tennessee.

Carol and Blair Married

Carol Lee Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Stuart Moore of Pebble Beach and Stockton, was married on Saturday afternoon to Blair McDonald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. McDonald, Jr. of Carmel Valley. Dr. K. Fillmore Gray officiated at the 3:00 o'clock ceremony in the Church of the Wayfarer. The altar was decorated with arrangements of white chrysanthemums and arches of the same flowers combined with autumn leaves spanned the center aisle.

Carol, given in marriage by her father, wore an original Bianchi model gown of white peau de soie made with a Sabrina neckline, short sleeves, and a bodice of Alencon lace embroidered with pearls. Panels of the same embroidered lace were applied on the full, floor-length skirt. A halo of orange blossoms held her waist-length illusion veil in place and she carried a white Bible marked with white satin ribbons and lilies of the valley.

Jo Ann Moore was maid of honor for her sister, and bridesmaids were another sister, Sue Moore; Lesley Berglund of Napá; Virginia Pioda, Salinas; Sally McClure, Lafayette; and Lawrence Barber, Arcadia. They wore identical dresses of kelly green peau de soie skirts with scoop necklines, full skirts adorned with three bows in back, and matching halos in their hair. The maid of honor carried copper spider chrysanthemums and the bridesmaids similar bouquets of lime green chrysanthemums.

Robert E. McDonald III was best man for his brother and ushers were the bride's brother, Craig Moore; Guy Livingston of Los Angeles; Bob Meyers, Canoga Park; Tracy Van Voorhees, San Francisco; Bob Lee, Montclair; and Rod Reynolds, Beverley Hills.

Mrs. Moore chose a gown of brown and gold taffeta brocade for her daughter's marriage, with which she wore matching accessories and a corsage of green orchids flecked with gold.

Mrs. McDonald, mother of the groom, was dressed in a gown of ash blonde satin worn with a corsage of green orchids and a hat trimmed with roses of the same material as her dress.

The wedding reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where the bridal party greeted the guests before a background arrangement of autumn leaves and gold-toned chrysanthemums.

When the couple left for a honeymoon in Mexico, the bride had changed to a green tweed suit, a green hat, black accessories and a corsage of ice green orchids.

On their return they will live in Carmel. Blair is a graduate of Carmel High School, attended Stanford University and is now associated with his father in the Monterey Sand Company.

Plan Board Hears City Council Say No To C-2 Zone Freeze

with existing use of land in the C-2 zone and therefore the Council had reversed the Planning Commission's decision.

Planning Commissioner Blanks stated that the Council's decision in the Schultz case, "drew the teeth out of the interim ordinance."

"We put the teeth back," answered Patnude, "by eliminating downgrading of property."

"You have a whole set of teeth, none of them false," countered Mayor Lyon as he read interim ordinance clauses to the Commission to point out what broad powers the ordinance gives the Commission.

Acting Planning Commission Chairman George Willox early in the meeting told Council members that the Commission was "acting under a mandate to keep the character of Carmel residential." The Commission had initiated measures under the mandate controlling population density and demanding off street parking.

"But a mandate does not constitute policy. We must have instructions so that we may function. Give them to us and we shall follow them!"

"Each case must be judged on its own merit," was Councilman Patnude's reply, "we've got to go along this way."

They were referring to the fact that Planning Commission decisions may be appealed to the Council and reversed. Willox wished to have some definite statement from Council members so that the Planning Commission may govern its actions according to Council policy.

Commissioner Herbert Blanks felt that the basic issue was: "Does the City Council believe in mutually exclusive zoning?"

The Planning Commission is envisioning "an average self-contained community" in preparing the new zoning ordinance and approving the master plan was his contention.

"It is normal to consider a commercial services-light industry zone in planning such a community."

"This is an unfair question," countered Patnude, "but do you want to reduce property values?"

"It's a matter for the City Council to balance values and uses," answered Blanks.

Patnude and Lyons both stated they fully approved the Commission's stated policy of controlling population density by demanding increased square footage per unit for multiple dwellings and increased off-street parking.

"We're behind you one hundred percent," said Patnude, "we'll back you to the hilt."

Councilman Chitwood worried by earlier discussion of downgrading property by restrictive zoning; lack of parking forcing residents to shop outside Carmel; no broad tax base to keep Carmel from becoming an educational slum; the inability of a residential area to support itself; unfair taxation if

C-2 were part "combination" residential; brought the two hour meeting to an abrupt end by stating that he had, "Reluctantly come to the conclusion that Carmel in order to survive must have parking meters or manufacture its own money."

Lucille Barnes Takes Own Life At Lobos

found beside the body.

Lucille Kaplansky Barnes was born on May 23, 1907, in Piedmont, California. She graduated from the University of California and served as a WAC during World War II. She had been married for 12 years. Mrs. Barnes was an active Red Cross worker serving as a staff aide and with the blood bank.

Besides her husband she is survived by her mother, Mrs. K. W. MacDonald of Tucson, Arizona; a brother Earle E. Kaplansky of Salinas; two sisters, Mrs. Gerald Bartlett of Santa Cruz and Mrs. Jean Ashford of Tucson.

Private funeral services conducted by the Reverend Angus Dun, Jr., were held at noon today in the Dorney and Farlinger Funeral Chapel.

Contributions in memory of Mrs. Barnes may be sent by those so desiring to the Carmel Chapter of the American Red Cross.

PROGRESS REPORT BY THE PLANNING COMMISSION

visions of the proposed new zoning ordinance. This newspaper does not look with much enthusiasm on a progress report from the planning commission, which shows that they are still thinking and proceeding without regard for the wishes of the people of the community; and that their reaction to criticism from the press is resentment rather than an attempt to discover if there may not be some justification for it.
